

NPTR VIDEO CATALOG ENTRY

Disease	Maple syrup urine disease (MSUD). Amino acid disorders.
Title	Grayson McGill's story – Living with Maple Syrup Urine Disease (MSUD).
Link	https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-BR0CR6FiN8
Key words	Maple syrup urine disease (MSUD). Amino acid disorders. Patient/family experience. Diet/treatment.
Description	This brief video gives a brief overview of MSUD, and the challenges to parents/patients about treatment, like maintaining a strict diet, close medical monitoring, and a disciplinary approach to health care.
Length (min:sec)	3:13
Speaker(s) Background	Parents. Narrator.
Objectives	1. Describe the complexity of care for an acute, complex disease such as maple syrup urine disease.
Educational utility	Provides a personal perspective about an aspect of rare diseases (diet/treatment) and the complexity of MSUD as a rare disease.
Technical aspects	Excellent audio and video quality.
Relevant/ Target Audience	Health professionals and specialists. Trainees and students in the health professions. Other stakeholders who have an interest in the inborn errors.
Promotional aspects	This video promotes the care provided by BC Children's Hospital. This video does not otherwise promote a commercial product, treatment, and/or medical device.
Source	BC Children's Hospital.

Author	SR.
Date	09/09/2020